BIO

She spent 30 years in a variety of key account management and business development positions in the video distribution industry. Kay has won numerous awards on a regional and national level, and is a recognized leader in portfolio management.

Kay connects with accounting firms who are seeking to learn more about growing their organizations through mergers and acquisitions, or looking to create succession plans for the long-term health of their business.

Kay's role at Whitman Transition Advisors is to provide information to accounting firms who are wanting to learn more about growing their organizations through mergers and acquisitions or looking to create successions plans. I do this by my 30 years of key account management and award winning customer service.
