

Andrew Ferrigno

Managing Director,
Whitman Transition Advisors

About Andrew

Andrew Ferrigno is a C-level executive with over 25 years of experience in the professional services industry. His journey spans the legal and public accounting sectors, collaborating with Top Tier Law Firms, where he mastered multifaceted operational activities and systems integration. Andrew's expertise extends to overseeing operations, human resources, internal finance, facilities management, and technology. Notably, as the Chief Of Staff of NYC-based Janover LLC (now Armanino), he played a pivotal role within the senior management team, successfully navigating the challenges posed by the post-pandemic landscape. His contributions encompassed the strategic restructuring of key departments and recruiting new talent to elevate operational efficiency, charting a progressive course for the firm's future.

Highlights

Andrew's track record in operational excellence demonstrates his leadership and strategic acumen. Some of his achievements include:

- Advancing the firm's strategic vision by aligning departmental objectives with overarching organizational goals, fostering a more integrated operational structure.
- Pioneering the hire of the first Chief Talent Officer, bringing invaluable expertise to the organization.
- Recognizing opportunities for operational optimization, resulting in streamlined processes and the implementation of best practices.
- Realizing impressive efficiency gains of 10% to 15%, including facilitating the first firm-wide process improvement for Individual Tax Returns.
- Leading successful change initiatives, guiding the organization through projects encompassing Return-to-Office protocols, Client Culling Strategies, and Enhanced Billing Practices and Collections

 646 267 1744

 aferrigno@whitmantransition.com

 www.whitmantransition.com